real time - field reporting system

Our unique LIVE Field Reporting System (FRS) is a fundamental part of delivering a successful installation to our clients.

Every project we cover has a unique software package tailored to the unique requirements of our customers so you gain all the information you need direct from site.

All our installers carry a hand held mobile device to record all works on site, including real time data and photographs, which are sent from site to our head office. All of this data is logged 24/7 by our FRS team and recorded for reporting purposes.

Set-up is as simple as logging on through your web browser.

In moments you'll be checking progress on your Adinstall projects around the country and accessing commercially valuable data. Imagine how much time and money you'll make and save.

- Web-based for easy set-up and quick, reliable 24 / 7 / 365 access.
- See the progress of any project Adinstall is working on for you from anywhere in the world.
- Simple access and MS Office compatibility make it easy to get valuable data working for you.
- Save time and money by monitoring projects from your desk.
- Proprietary software which is individually tailored to your Adinstall project requirements.
- Triple DES security (as used by banks) gives you complete peace of mind.

No more waiting around for installers to return to base to upload their captured data.

With our FRS, you see what's going on with your project in near real-time. Once an image has been taken it is instantly uploaded to our system, ready for viewing.
